ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

This is the 142nd Report of the Trustees of the Malden Public Library and the 14th Report of this President.

As you know I usually start my report with a quote or trite saying. This year two came to mind:

When it rains, it pours.

There is always a light at the end of the tunnel.

This year was an extremely challenging year. The Library was beset by major external problems, but it also demonstrated the resiliency and commitment of all involved. Two major events effecting the Library occurred in early 2020: the death of Trustee Joseph Lawless and the COVID pandemic.

Joseph F. Lawless III had served in many capacities on the Board for over 20 years. Having serviced in City government just as long, he was the one who knew the “who, what and where” of Malden. Because of this, he could always bring a down to earth explanation to and a course of action for the Board. He will be sorely missed. The Board honored Joe and his service by naming a new study room in his honor. A search for his replacement was begun and Anthony Spadafora, a longtime local business owner, was named as his replacement.

The Coronavirus became pandemic in early 2020 and forced a shutdown throughout the City by mid-March. The City and the Library followed MBLC guidelines. Since patrons were not allowed in the library, curbside delivery was initiated as soon as allowed by these guidelines. Virtual programs were conducted by staff from home. “Zooming” became a popular term. Children’s programs, lectures and tours as well as meetings all took this form. The administration and staff developed a two-team system to continue working in the Library. In this manner possible infection and spread was minimized.

Before and during the shutdown other problems were worked on both on the building and on processes. Waterproofing the roof, replacing carpeting and restoring balusters and even an examination of the Converse Building structure itself was undertaken. Long standing problems with financial reporting and endowment funds distribution were investigated and resolved. Fines for children were eliminated.

Inside the Library, three small study rooms were carved out of the old reference desk area in the new building. Collections were greatly augmented by purchase and donation. The Alex Katz Foundation and individuals made generous donations of art. A new small art gallery was set up off the Carr Gallery through the gifts of John Giso, John Preole and the Adelaide Breed Bayrd Foundation; its dedication was postponed until the shutdown is over. The clock from the Converse murder scene was given to the library by John Giso. Other items of art and historical interest were added to the collection. Grants were submitted, and were successful, to partially fund the conversion of a large area in the basement into a climate-controlled room for storage of art and other historical items.

The Administration and staff deserve special thanks and recognition for how they have coped, adapted and maintained the level of service during this year and pandemic. The Friends group continues to be a source of strength and revenue.

I thank the Mayor, the City and the City Council for their support of the Library during this trying past year. Perhaps next year will be more an appropriate time to work on other problems that still linger (waivers, wages, etc.). Extra special and copious thanks to our patrons who have graciously put up with the pandemic response changes to the Library.

Hopefully, the rain will stop, the light at the end of the tunnel will burst upon the scene, and all will go back to normal soon.

Respectfully submitted,

John E. Tramondozzi
President
Board of Trustees

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

This is the 8th report of the Librarian and the 142nd submitted to the Board of Trustees.

This year has been unlike any other. With the COVID-19 pandemic, social justice inequities and a fractious political environment, the world seemed to be turned upside down. The pandemic hit the City of Malden hard, keeping the Library closed for three months in 2020.

On February 29, Washington's King County reported what was then believed to be the nation's first death from Covid-19. On March 17, the American Library Association, for the first time in its history, issued a memo recommending that all libraries across the nation close to the public. Thus began a year of pandemic and loss, work reinvention, 72-hour materials quarantine, personal protective equipment, hand sanitizer stations and face masks.

In June, with safety precautions in place, the staff returned to the building. Staff quickly adapted and met the challenges of the new service environment: assisting residents by phone, email and social media, creating contact-less curbside delivery, remote card registration, producing online/zoom story times, book discussions, game nights, and very popular grab & go crafts. We also increased purchasing of ebooks and e-audio and streaming movies to meet a higher demand. The staff also created a guide to navigating life under Covid linking to resources for medical information, financial assistance, volunteering – and more.

We welcomed new staff member, Yojana GC. Yojana graduated from the Nepal Medical College with Bachelor in Medicine and Surgery and is currently working on her United States Medical Licensing Examinations.

In December, the Trustees voted to eliminate all fines for children and teens stating “the Malden Public Library is taking a leading stance in ensuring all youth have equitable opportunities to pursue their dreams.”

On May 29, the world watched in horror as video of a police officer killing an African American man named George Floyd was released to the media. And with protests that followed and the growth of the Black Lives Matter movement came the long overdue acknowledgement of just how deeply systemic racism is in the United States. Equity, diversity and inclusion were discussed as core values for the library profession. Bestselling titles on the topic were in high demand: Ta-Nehisi Coate’s Between the World and Me; Robin DiAngelo’s White Fragility; and Ibram X. Kendi’s How to Be an Antiracist.

In December, the Library was one of only 34 libraries in the US to receive a 2020 Census Equity Grant from the American Library Association. Working with the Malden Complete Count Committee, the grant was used to reach out to Malden’s vulnerable and hard-to-count populations.

Challenging times often cause us to reflect on the importance of the people in our lives and the gratitude for those who helped us get through difficult times. My continued thanks to the entire Malden Public Library staff, the Board of Trustees, the Mayor, City Council, our generous donors and volunteers, and to the wonderful community of Malden for their continued support of their library.

Respectfully submitted,

Dora St. Martin
Director

REPORT OF THE ASSISTANT LIBRARIAN

This is the 7th report of the Assistant Librarian and the 142th submitted to the Board of Trustees.

Although we didn't know it at the time, the 2020 fiscal year turned out to be something we never anticipated. So the best laid plans became a nice memory and it was time to punt.

Technology at MPL

After completing the wiring upgrade project for the public computers and purchasing the new computers, installation of those computers continued. New computers for the teen room were also purchased. When the library was closed in March 2020, technology became what we needed, in new and unexpected ways. We began by setting up a phone so that calls that came into the library could be answered and questions addressed. Next we needed a way to enable people that did not have a library card to get one, thus enabling them to get downloaded books, audiobooks, and streaming content. I created an on-line library card form, and was able to continue to make cards and look at accounts through our ILS Leap system.

We then purchased a Zoom account to hold programs and meetings virtually. We began with storytimes, and have moved on to ESL classes weekly, YA craft programs, YA movies, and more. Additional databases had also been purchased, including Cypress, a database for resume and cover letter creation, and CreativeBug, a craft database with projects for children and adults.

Friends of Malden Public Library

The Friends held their annual Book Sale in November of 2019. As in other years, it was a great event well-attended by the community. While planning had been underway in February of 2020 for another Brew Fest, those plans were put on hold.

Malden Reads

Malden Reads, the City of Malden's One Book One Community Program, celebrated its 10th anniversary in 2020. Malden Reads was awarded an NEA Big Reads grant and the title chosen was Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury. The events included a kickoff celebration on January 11th, starting at the Library with a family movie, and for the adults, a tour of the art galleries and the Converse Memorial Building. Many excellent programs, reflecting the themes of Fahrenheit 451, had been scheduled for the spring. Work continued throughout the spring and summer for choosing the 2021 Malden Reads book selection and developing on the themes of that book.

It's been a difficult year in hundreds of ways, but the joy of reading and sharing resources with the Malden community has always been the mission and passion here at the Library.

The pandemic challenged us to find new and creative ways to work with our neighbors and reach out to the community to support their learning and entertainment while we were all at home.

Respectfully submitted,
Caron Guigli, Assistant Director

Building and Grounds

During the pandemic, we used the opportunity to do some much needed upgrades to our buildings. RRR Waterproofing installed a new rubber roof above the children's room and re-lined gutters on the Converse Building. Under an energy program with the City, Honeywell installed new LED lighting throughout the library and upgrades to the HVAC system. Minuteman Building and Preservation Inc. built three new study rooms on the first floor the Park Street addition; and continued work on a new small gallery space off the Carr Gallery.

Converse Art Galleries

On December 11, the Library hosted a reception for Malden ARTLine's Frank Stella mural project. The new mural is located on the wall of Malden High School facing Centre Street at the corner of Rt. 60 and Holden Streets. The Mayor presented Mr. Stella with a key to the City.

Art tours were presented to many community organization including board members of the Mass. Cultural Council, MHS Class of 1969, the YMCA Teen Leadership Corp, the MHS Pace Program, the ESL Conversation class, and Friends of Fellsmere Park.

New Works: Question and Whirligig (prints) by Maude Morgan (gift of John Tramondozzi); 8 Works by Constance Stella (purchased from estate of Betty Ann Farmer); Portrait of Young Boy and Portrait of Young Girl by Ernest Ipsen (gift of John Tramondozzi); 3 Sailing Ship prints by Malden artist Harold Haven Brown.

A lovely gift of the 1843 clock originally in the First National Bank during the murder of Frank Converse was donated by John Giso and Michael Nutall.

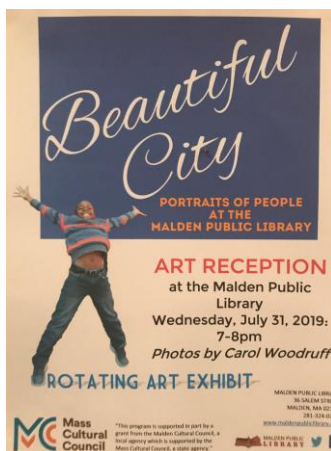

W. F. Healey Company Antiques, Art and Furniture Restoration was hired to begin an ongoing restoration project. Works under restoration include Pastor Edwin Holt Hughes by Vesper George, the Syfferman Brothers, and John Gardner by Albion Bicknell, and Roswell R. Robinson by William T. Robinson.

The project to transfer the art works inventory to Pastperfect Museum Software continues.

Art Exhibits

In July, a reception was held for Beautiful City: Portraits of People at the Malden Public Library. The exhibit of wonderful photographs by Carol Woodruff showed the diversity of people who visit the library every day. The program was supported by a generous grant from the Malden Cultural Council.

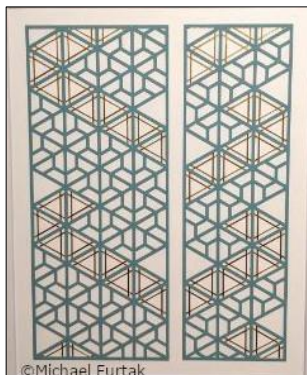

The Library also hosted the National Archives Museum exhibit, Rightfully Hers: American Women and the Vote, exploring the complex history of the 19th Amendment's ratification.

Rotating Artists Series

The Rotating Artists Series featured the works of local artists Michael Furtak, Dominique Lecomte, Carlos Arzaga, Kelly Hourigan, Jen Moltoni, Mark Chester and April Jakubec

Hands-On Art

Gregory Maichack presented a pastel painting workshop inspired by Georgia O'Keeffe's enormous mural, The Miracle Flower. Other programs included our popular Origami @ the Library and Adult Coloring.

Triple Threat Trivia

The 22nd Annual Triple Threat Trivia night was hosted on January 24th at Anthony's. Questions ranged from movies, history, music, science and more. The winner, for a third time, was the Mayor's MoTTTley Crew.

Citizen Lyceum Forum

In March, the Library hosted a Citizen Lyceum focusing on the 1882 Chinese Exclusion Act prohibiting the immigration of Chinese laborers to the U.S. This event was co-sponsored by MaldenReads, the American Association of Arab Women, the Chinese Culture Connection and MaldenCORE (Community Organizing for Racial Equity. Roger Desrosiers from the Massachusetts Center for Civic Education led the community conversation.

Movie Nights

The Library held a "Throwback Classic" movie night feature the film, A League of Their Own. The event highlighted the sports life of Malden's own Rockford Peach, Helen Nordquist (MHS, 1950). Helen Nordquist was also inducted into Malden High School's Golden Tornado Club Hall of Fame in November.

Author Talks

In September, the Library hosted a talk with Joseph Bebo, author of Alex A Lesson in Courage. This is a true story about a Malden boy with special needs named Alex, as told by his parents, his teachers, coaches, friends, neighbors, a high school principal, and the Mayor of a city. Alex's story is a story of hope, of how love turned a seeming tragedy into a wondrous joy.

In October, the Library and the Malden Historical Society presented a talk by Malden author John S. Bowman. Mr. Bowman (MHS Class of 1949) grew up in Malden in the 1930s and 40s. He has recently published a memoir of his boyhood Back Then: One Family's Way of Life in the 1930s and 1940s.

While the building remained closed due to the pandemic, library staff offered virtual programming (via zoom) including book discussion, book chats, campfire ghost stories, book review and recommendations and poetry readings.

Summer Reading

The theme for the 2019 summer reading program was “A Universe of Stories.” The summer program, sponsored by Preotle and Lane Associates, is designed to encourage children, teens and adults to keep reading during summer season. The program helps prevent the “summer slide” and provides free educational and cultural enrichment activities and programs. Programs honored the 50th anniversary of the Apollo 11 moon landing, July 20, 1969. A party was held with 1960s dress, food and music and a children’s rocket project.

Despite the pandemic, the Children's staff continued to connect families to books via curbside delivery and online experiences that promoted the joy of reading and learning. The staff offered virtual storytimes (including a Mayor's storytime), promoting ebooks (such as Tumble Books for Kids), poetry readings and grab & go crafts. One of the most creative solutions was the outdoor Story Walk. This fun activity promotes early literacy, physical activity, and family time together in nature by placing the pages from a children's picture book along the walking route outside the library.

Young Adult Services

This year, a new Teen Advisory Group (TAG) was formed to help assist the library on book purchases and teen programming ideas. The TAG group also helped with the renovations of the Teen Space with the addition of café style tables and chairs, expanding space for laptop use, new computer software and a window sitting area.

Programs for young adults included a teen yoga program, afternoon movies, Perler bead crafts, tie dye t-shirt event and a Museum of Science Night Sky program. Teens were also given several special tours of the Local History Room and its many resources.

In October, the Library hosted a Young Adult Haunted Library Tour. The tour was led by the Director, Dora St. Martin and Librarian Patrick Brennan. Teens learned about the murder of Frank Converse and other “ghostly” stories from around the City of Malden.

Happy Birthday Mayor Converse!

Thursday, July 25th at 11:00 AM ~

Fellsme Park (Savin Street)

The City of Malden and Councilor Debbie DeMaria invite you to celebrate the 199th birthday of Elisha Converse with complimentary birthday cake, lemonade – and “Shoe” crafts for the kids.

Fellsme Park was established in 1893 with the efforts of Mayors Elisha Converse (1881-1893) and John Sleeper (1893-1903). Elisha Slade and Mary Diana Edmonds Converse were major benefactors of many of Malden's most important institutions, including the Malden Public Library (Converse Memorial Building), Pine Banks Park, the Malden YMCA, the First Baptist Church, the Malden Hospital, the Malden Home for the Aged Persons, the Malden Auditorium, and many other community organizations.

Go Local: Converse 2020 is brought to you with federal funds provided by the Institute of Museum and Library Services and administered by the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners.
