REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

This is the ninth Annual Report of this President and the 137th Annual Report of the Malden Public Library as mandated by a Special Act of the State Legislature.

The year started off on a good note in the summer of 2014. The “new” Director and Assistant Director had settled in; two new Trustees had settled in. It was a time to go forward and work on items long put aside – delayed maintenance, reopening of the Converse Building on a regular basis, updating internal library systems, moving further on digitization, updating security and inventory of holdings. Art gallery lighting and the Library website projects should quickly proceed.

During the summer and fall, with the help of grants and City funding, carpeting was replaced, computers were upgraded and the new Website was developed. Plans to revamp the Art Galleries lighting were developed; Buildings and Grounds Committee started on a Strategic Plan.

But into each life some rain must fall.

Winter Came! Snow, Rain, Freezing Temperatures!

Our beloved Converse Memorial Building, like many other local buildings, suffered greatly especially ice and water damage. Remediation was costly, time-consuming and challenging to everyone’s patience. Without going into details, repairs were made and eventually normality returned. But during this time the Library functioned as normally as possible. The Staff and Administration coped, improvised and kept all the Library functions and programs running.

A great shout of thanks and appreciation are due Mayor Christenson, City Officials and staff for all their help during this trying time. The members of the Board of Trustees are always a constant source of encouragement to me.

Good things did continue to happen. The Library and Historical Society worked closely to produce two exhibits in the Converse Building – one on wedding gowns and the other on abstract art. These exhibits showed the richness of each's collections. The Friends continued their great support running their famous fundraisers – the Book Sale and the Wine Tasting. The patrons continued to show their appreciation of the Library and all that it stands for by continued use and support, attendance at programs and donations.

The Art Collection continued to prosper by purchases and donations. The inventory of the entire art collection continued and the Print Collection inventory was begun.

Hopefully, this year was an anomaly. The people of Malden may rest assured that the Library – administration, staff, and trustees – are prepared to work on and solve any problems that arise in order to continue providing the type of services our public deserves.

Respectfully,

John Tramondozzi, President
Board of Trustees

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

This is the 3rd report of the Librarian and the 137th submitted to the Board of Trustees.

In 2015 Malden residents made full use of their library during 330,786 visits, attending 423 programs, and circulating 288,802 items.

Every so often, a grave and concerned person will ask me if we still need libraries. According to a new PEW study, 94 percent of Americans still think so. The study states that public libraries still rank higher in the American psyche than Congress, the President, and even baseball and apple pie!

Malden residents are no less enthusiastic about their library. They come to spend a morning at song and rhyme time or simply to read the newspaper; they come in the afternoon to check out a favorite book or to look for a job; they come in the evenings for book discussions, music concerts, and movie nights. They come online from home or at work – via computer, phone, or tablet.

Ensuring that Malden residents have access to the latest materials and most useful resources is a top priority. In 2015 we increased the number of copies of high-demand items, re-located the large print collection for easier access, expanded display space for new books, and created a new magazine reading area. We enhanced our digital collection, adding Consumer Reports Online, Ancestry.com, and Universal Class – an online tool for lifelong learning from Algebra to Yoga. For young language learners, we added Mango's Little Pim and Tumbler Books for Kids. We upgraded our public computers and wifi network, installed a computer reservation system with a self-service printing station, and developed a fresh, new library website.

Another focus of 2015 was the continued expansion of use and preservation of Converse Memorial Building. This year, many more people had the chance to discover this gem of Malden. We rearranged and moved furniture to allow regular use of the historic fireplace room, installed a public-use computer, and moved forward on a multi-year project to install museum quality lighting and surveillance cameras in the art galleries.

Special events brought new patrons into the galleries. We offered a monthly Tuesday art tour, as well as special art talks by Anthony Amore, author of Stealing Rembrandts, and Kathleen Houseley, author of Tranquil Power: the Art and Life of Perle Fine. Three exhibitions were open to the public: Corita Kent: Moments in Memory of Tina Aliberti, Perle Fine and Abstract Expressionism, and Here Comes the Brides, an exhibit of wedding dresses from the collections of Malden Historical Society. We were excited to bring new additions to the art galleries, adding works by Ernest Ipsen, Joseph Morviller, Darius Cobb, Corita Kent, Perle Fine, Fred Eid, and Horace and Dorothy Burdick.

STEAM in the Gallery, a 2015 Library Service and Technology Act (LSTA) grant, provided funds for full year of art-inspired events for all ages. Art Play and Storytime and Art Adventures with the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, brought young art lovers into the galleries. Toddlers and their parents enjoyed a morning of art-related stories and hand-on crafts.

Finally, the world at large came to see our treasures as the Converse Memorial Building hosted its first wedding and was the location for the filming of a major Hollywood motion picture.

Respectfully submitted,

Dora St. Martin

REPORT OF THE ASSISTANT DIRECTOR

Perhaps the largest or at least the most visible project I've worked on this year is the development and implementation of our new website. The goal was threefold:

- To make our site visually appealing in a way that reflected the beauty and grandeur of our library and galleries;
- To create a website that was clear and uncluttered, thus making our offerings easy to find for our patrons and increasing website traffic;
- To enable our webpage to be accessible on mobile and tablet devices;
- And to have an online area devoted to the Converse Art Galleries, their collections and exhibits.

As a bonus, our new website allows us to capture Google Analytic data, letting us know that at least one of our goals (easy access and increased traffic) was achieved.

2015 was also the first year that I was the primary liaison representing the library for two important events, the Friends' Wine Tasting and Malden Reads. Both allowed me to work directly with community members and to expand our visibility within Malden. The 2015 Wine Tasting netted the highest earnings achieved yet, and Malden Reads has become a much-anticipated event in Malden.

Respectfully submitted,

Caron Guigli
Assistant Director

STAFF CHANGES

On October 31, 2014, long-time custodian Charles Cadiero retired after twenty years of service. The staff will miss Charlie's humor, kindness, and weekend donuts. Other staff changes in 2015 included the resignation of Susan Francis, Rachel Lovett, and Marysara Naczi. Patrick Brennan graduated from Drexel University with a Master's in Library and Information Science in December 2014. He was promoted to Information Librarian in May 2015.

BUILDING AND GROUNDS

“One winter morning Peter woke up and looked out the window. Snow had fallen during the night. It covered everything as far as he could see.”

- Ezra Keats, The Snowy Day

“A lot of people like snow. I find it to be an unnecessary freezing of water.” – Carl Reiner

Week after week, snow totals increased by feet. The record-breaking snowfall dumped more than 100 inches in Malden within a 30-day period, with a final total of 115 inches. It was a record-breaking winter requiring the library to close for five days. Thanks must go to Paul Higgins and John Preziosa for working so hard to keep the library doors open and the walkways clear. Sadly, due to the excessive amount of snow, ice jams caused considerable water damage to the older sections of the library, including the historic Converse Building, the Ryder Gallery, the Maccario meeting room, the staff lounge, staff offices, and several sections of the roof. After the insurance was settled in April, the Trustees hired Murray Brothers Construction and RRR Waterproofing to make needed repairs.

Despite the harsh winter, other work continued. The largest project was the re-carpeting of the 1996 Park Street Addition. Funded by grants from the City of Malden and Adelaide Breed Bayrd Foundation, Atkinson Carpet and Flooring installed carpet tile flooring in the main reading room, children's and young adult room, second floor, and the staff work areas. The project required patron services to temporarily move back into the Converse Memorial Building – which most people said they actually enjoyed. The carpet project was completed in October 2014.

Significant progress was made on several other multi-year projects, including the re-pointing of the courtyard garden wall, the relaying of the Salem Street brick walkway, the installing of new lighting in the Converse art galleries, and the RFID security project.

The Converse Memorial Building played host to several special events this year. In October, the art galleries were the backdrop for a major international event. Mayor Gary Christenson along with state and federal officials welcomed the China Entrepreneur Club (CEC), a delegation of 13 business entrepreneurs from China to the City of Malden for an informational session on investment in the United States – and in Malden.

On May 23, Paul and Lisa Hammersley were married in front of the HH Richardson fireplace in the Converse Reading room. The couple were joined by family and friends for a lovely ceremony.

In June, weddings were once again the focus in the Converse galleries with the presentation of "Here Comes the Bride," an exhibit of historic wedding dresses from the collections of the Malden Historical Society.

The summer brought Hollywood to the library for the filming of Seth MacFarlane's comedy TED 2. Library staff worked for two months with Raging Bear Productions to safely convert the Converse reading room into a movie set. The seven-day rental and film shoot had Mark Wahlberg, Amanda Seyfried, and a crew of hundreds enjoying the delights of our historic building.

GIFTS AND DONATIONS

We are so grateful to all of the people who provided support to the Library this past year, including Trustees, elected officials, staff, state agencies, foundations, donors, and volunteers. A complete list of donors and special gift funds can be found at the end of this report. Some highlights for 2015:

The Malden Public Library was honored to receive support from the Adelaide Breed Bayrd Foundation to support several capital and technology improvements at the library. The library was awarded funds to redesign our website ($20,000), re-point and restore the HH Richardson Courtyard Wall and historic Salem Street gate ($60,000), and to install updated lighting in the Converse art galleries ($66,500).

Donations also brightened the summer for children and their families. The Library received a donation from Preotle, Lane & Associates ($4,500) to fund the Summer Reading Program for children and teens. Dairy Delight helped us kick off Summer Reading by providing ice cream for 600 children and their families. And for a second year, the Eastern Bank Charitable Foundation provided funds ($1,500) to support our “Live on the Lawn” Summer Concert Series.

The Library was able to expand its collection of Chinese language books as a result of a donation of 700 new Chinese literature classics and children’s books from The Asian Cultural Center of Cambridge. The donation is one of the largest gifts of books the library has received and doubles its collection of Chinese children’s books.

The Asian Cultural Center has donated 700 brand new Chinese books including Chinese literature classics and children's books to the Malden Public Library. Mayor Gary Christenson along with Library Assistant Director Caron Guigil welcomed the members of the Asian Cultural Center and thanked them for their generosity. According to Ms. Guigil this donation is one of the largest in the Library's history and doubles the current number of Chinese children's books. This contribution will not only benefit the more than 8,000 Malden Chinese residents, but also Boston patrons as Malden is part of the Boston Public Library network and resources are shared. Although Malden is the first library to benefit from the Asian Cultural Center's generosity, the cities and towns of Quincy, Andover, Lexington, Cambridge, and Concord will also receive donations.

FRIENDS OF THE MALDEN PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Friends of the Malden Public Library is a community organization dedicated to assisting the Library in realizing its mission. The Friends organize many events to raise funds for the Library. These funds sponsor book readings, concerts, museum passes, children's programs, books and graphic novels for young adults, large-print books, and more. Their two main fundraising events are the wildly popular annual Book Sale held in October and Wine Tasting held in April. In 2015, the Friends' funds were used to replace the "old" rusting book drop with a new and improved model. Once again the Friends' Annual Wine Tasting was a sell out and a great success. The event is a staple in Malden's annual social calendar. Special thanks to Therese Perkins and all the Friends for their hard work.

TRIPLE THREAT TRIVIA 17!

The Malden Public Library held its 17th Annual Triple Threat Trivia fundraiser at Anthony's Function Hall on January 22. Team Hill-iovino took home the cup this year despite fierce competition. Fifteen teams made up of Malden community organizations and families participated. An amazing amount of thanks goes to Shapiro and Hender, Malden Transportation, the Medeiros Family (Dunkin Donuts) the E.E. Burns and Son Funeral Homes, Rucci, Bardaro & Falzone, Walker Mechanical Inc., and the Malden Advocate for their support. Special thanks to Committee Chair Ellie Cushing and Master of Ceremonies Paul Solano.

VOLUNTEERS

The Malden Public Library has a very dedicated group of volunteers. This year, 60 volunteers averaged over 20 hours of service per person, the highest average since the Adopt-an-Aisle program began in 2011. The Library welcomes students from the area schools to fulfill their community service requirements, in addition to adults who want to give back to the library. The Library also welcomed a group from Triangle, Inc., who were looking for workplace experience. The clients were shown how to straighten books on the shelves, making the Library more inviting and usable.

CHILDREN'S SERVICES

Summer Reading kicked off with our hugely popular annual Ice Cream Social sponsored by Dairy Delights. Over 600 children and their families enjoyed a treat and signed up for a summer of learning and fun. The theme of this year's reading program was "Fizz, Boom, Read" focusing on science and technology. Programs offered included Science Magic with the staff from the Museum of Science, Crazy Chemistry, and a LEGO Lab with Bricks4Kidz.

During fiscal 2015, 226 programs were offered for children and their families with a total attendance of 13,708. Halloween/Diwali were celebrated with a program of crafts and face painting drawing a crowd of 180 attendees. Local Malden artists Greg Cook and Kari Percival led a mask-making workshop on the themes of Peace on Earth and Winter Wildlife. Mayor Christenson continued his tradition of visiting several times a year to read picture books to young children. State Senator Jason Lewis also came by for story time. After the snowy winter, spring brought new programs including Kenpo Karate, New England Aquarium Tidepools, and Creature Teachers who brought a skunk, kookaburra, coatamundi, python, baby alligator, and other fascinating animals.

YOUNG ADULT SERVICES

Teens also enjoyed another successful summer reading program, complete with 13 programs held in July and August. The most popular of these was a screening of the movie Divergent, which prompted many of the 40 attendees to ask for the book, on which the movie is based, by Veronica Roth.

This year saw the creation of the Converse LEGO Club where, through a LSTA STEAM in the Gallery grant. Young Adults played with and built a wide array of ingenious creations from our collections of LEGO bricks. The YMCA Teen Robotic Club also came and helped run a series of LEGO Robotics programs aimed at young adults, teaching them about building moving robots with LEGO kits.

The Teen Nonfiction section was weeded in an effort to ensure that all information was up-to-date and relevant to the current teen community. The collection enjoyed a 4% increase in circulation as a result.

LSTA STEAM IN THE GALLERY

This year, the Library was honored to be awarded a $10,000 LSTA Innovation Grant for STEAM in the Gallery. The grant funded a project to introduce the public and staff to STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Math) and arts-learning and how arts-learning can promote language development, visual learning, inventiveness, and art appreciation.

During the grant project, 30 STEAM-related programs were presented with more than 1,000 total participants, from ages 3 to 75. Children and adults were introduced to STEAM through lectures, hands-on art and craft programs, and tours of the Converse art galleries. Programs included: Art Play Story times for Preschoolers, the Converse Lego Club, Math & Magic of Origami with James Hollis, Kibo the Robot, Carnivale de Venezia: Mask-making and the Art of Venice, the HH Richardson Lego Challenge, YMCA Teen Robotics, Art Detective: How to Find a Forgery, Sunprinting, and Art Adventures with the Museum of Fine Arts.

ADULT SERVICES

Programming continues to be a large mission for the Library. With our Live on the Lawn series, we were able to incorporate three of our favorites: bringing families together, great music and great weather. After a successful initial try in the summer of 2013, we expanded our outdoor concerts to a series, four Wednesday night concerts on our Salem St. lawn with four great bands: Five O'clock Shadow, 4 Guys in Tuxes, Outrageous Fortune and Caribbean Vybz. Over 400 people of all ages joined us with nary a drop of rain.

We continued with our focus on art programming with our monthly Tuesday Night Art Talks and Tours. Some of our guest speakers this year included Anthony Amore, discussing the art theft at the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, and a panel of educators explaining the STEAM concept of learning,

A new and very popular origami series with James Hollis began this year, sponsored by the Friends, Gregory Maichak offered a pastel painting workshop sponsored by the Malden Cultural Council, and Wendy Johnston presented a program on her hike on the Pacific Crest Trail.

One of the most popular services the library offers is our discount museum pass program. This year we added a museum pass to the newly renovated Harvard Art Museums.

The Library offers two book discussion groups: The Monday Book Discussion Group and The Booker Prize Discussion Group. The Library also hosts a very popular creative writing group providing a welcoming place for local authors to share their works in progress.

The monthly Movie Night and Adult Board Game nights continue to draw large crowds. The Library showed 14 movies including: The Inevitable Defeat of Mister and Pete, Lone Survivor, Labor Day, A Day Late and a Dollar Short, Draft Day, The Shining, Wadjda, Maleficent, The Hundred Foot Journey, The Equalizer, Get On Up, Wild, Still Alice, and American Sniper. As participants of Malden Reads, the Library showed Robot & Frank and Google and the World Brain.

MALDEN READS

The adult book chosen for Malden Reads 2015 were Mr. Penumbra's 24-Hour Bookstore by Robin Sloan. The children's companion books were Reading Makes You Feel Good by Todd Parr (for pre-K), The Fantastic Flying Books of Mr. Morris Lessmore by William Joyce (grades K-3) and Escape from Mr. Lemoncello's Library by Chris Grabenstein (grades 4-7). The themes of reading, book antiquities, Google, and secret "book rooms" merged well with the Malden Public Library.

In addition to again hosting the kick-off celebration in the Converse Art Galleries, the Library hosted two book discussions, one led by Mayor Christenson in the Ryder Gallery, and a second led by Martha Bezzat; and "Secrets in the Stacks" which gave the public a rare opportunity to go behind the scenes and into "staff only" areas of the Library. Participants were able to get a tour and ask questions about the closed stacks and rare book room.

WORLD LANGUAGE COLLECTION & ENGLISH AS SECOND LANGUAGE CLASSES

The World Languages collection continues to grow and expand. Books are now ordered in Chinese, Arabic, French, Haitian-Creole, Spanish, Vietnamese, Hindi, and Portuguese. The Library now has CDs and DVDs in many languages including Italian, German, Japanese, Hebrew, Turkish, Persian, and Tibetan.

For over the past nine years the Malden Public Library has offered weekly ESL conversation class on Wednesdays. Students in the ESL program come from all over the world, including, Haiti, Brazil, China, India, Korea, Turkey, Vietnam, Russia, Cameroon, Saudi Arabia, Colombia, Morocco, Albania, Palestine, Mexico, Iran, Japan, Mozambique, Thailand, Senegal, Taiwan, Armenia, Pakistan, Ecuador, Ethiopia, Tibet, Algeria, Lebanon, Myanmar, Libya, Iraq, El Salvador, Estonia, Poland, and Spain. Students were also taught how to use the online database, Mango, to assist in English learning. Staff offered 12 ESL tours to over 220 students from the Immigrant Learning Center and the Malden High School ESL class.

AUDIO-VISUAL COLLECTION

The Audiovisual collection continues to change as technology improves and advances. There was a significant increase in the use of digital media. Throughout the year patrons were taught how to use Hoopla, Overdrive, Mango Languages, and One-Click digital. The total circulation statistics for the audiovisual collection were: 7,975 items for the audio collection; 50,997 items for the DVD/video collection; and 2,002 for the downloadable media collection. The combined total for audiovisual circulation was 60,974.

HOMEBOUND DELIVERY

Every four weeks library staff deliver bags of books, CDs, and DVDs to Malden residents unable to get to the Library. This year the time of home delivery was also changed to Wednesdays at noon from Thursdays at one o'clock. The most heavily used stop is Salem Towers where an activities coordinator communicates to the library the reading interests of several residents.

CIRCULATION, TECHNICAL PROCESSING & CATALOGING

Making collections easier to find and use was a focus this year. Several changes were implemented to connect people with materials more quickly and to simplify complicated circulation rules and procedures. The circulation, technical processing, and information staff worked to get materials on the shelf more quickly, have more copies on hand to meet demand, and to pull and process items with reserves more quickly. The Large Print collection was moved from the second floor to the first for easier access for our senior and visually impaired readers resulting in a 35% increase in usage of the collection.

TECHNOLOGY

Technology continues to be an important component of library services as we provide access to the internet through public access computers and a free public wifi network. Many people do not have this available at home and increasingly the library is the only option to accomplish basic day-to-day tasks such as applying for a job, filing out tax forms, or completing school assignments. In 2015, we replaced our old Useful system with the CASSIE computer reservation system to decrease computer wait times, upgraded our Polaris Catalog, replaced 14 public and staff computers and software, installed a new self-service printing station and coin-box, and introduced a new website designed by staff with assistance from Stirling Technologies.
