ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

This is the 147th Annual Report of the Malden Public Library as mandated by a Special Act of the Legislature and the 19th Report of the President.

This was a difficult year at the library but to quote and paraphrase Watty Piper's

"The Little Engine That Could"
I Think I can" became "I know I can and did.

Covid was over and the Library and City bounced back with more activities and initiatives as though they needed to get back into action. Patrons and donors returned for onsite activities. The programs for families were especially well attended. Young adults and children's programs were eagerly received. A new Library of Things was established where patrons could borrow items to use instead of purchasing them.

The work on the building archives, children's room, leaks in the slate roof have been brought under control or prioritized. "An old building needs more attention". The Olmsted Garden was restored and is being maintained by Grants.

Updating technology for the library use and presentations has been accomplished especially in the Maccario Room and at the processing desk.

The Library finally got its own van, used especially for delivery to homebound seniors.

The art collection was digitally catalogued by Maeve Hedstrom with more than 900 pictures done, including Major prints, not including those previously appraised. Many individuals donated art or money for the Art collection. The Converse building was set up as a Library and Art gallery. Mr. Giso, Trustee Tramondozzi, and Mr. Cesario are some of the donors.

The Library continues to conduct many events and activities, much more than would be expected of a library of our size and with our staffing. Many of these activities are sponsored by long time patrons, including John Preotle, and Dairy Delight. The Friends group continues to support the Library with fundraising using book sales and a yearly winetasting event.

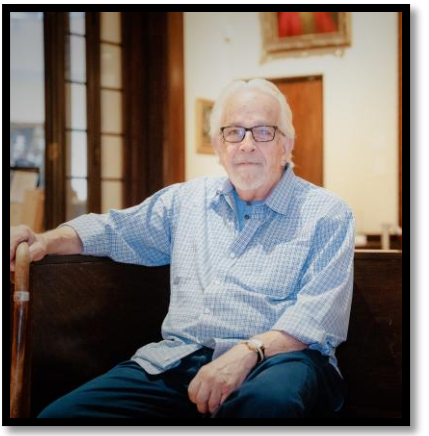
But any organization is as good as the personnel involved. Some changes have occurred in the past year. Caron Guigli announced her retirement as Assistant Director in January. New hires were made, and positions changed. Marita Coombs was promoted to Assistant Director, Stephen Deloney became the Senior Librarian, Ryan Reed moved from Local History to cataloguing, and Phillip Wright was the new hire in local history. Derek Diggs left his position to return to school but returned as our art cataloguer.

The library was saddened to hear of the death of longtime Director, Dina Malgeri whose vision made this library the respected body it is today.

I wish to thank all who helped and continue to make the library a proud member of Malden's city scape. The city government, staff, patrons, colleagues, all deserve thanks for showing that as that little train did- "We could do it and we did!"

Respectfully submitted,

John E. Tramondozzi, PhD
President,
Board of Trustees



REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

This is the 13th report of this Librarian and the 147th submitted to the Board of Trustees.

“When I was a boy and I would see scary things in the news, my mother would say to me, "Look for the helpers. You will always find people who are helping.” — Fred Rogers

This past year, the Library staff took great strides in developing deeper and more collaborative relationships with agencies and organizations that serve the needs of Malden residents. The three new small meeting / study rooms on the first floor, created a few years ago, are now a hub of activity. Library users looking for help with housing, healthcare, food access, mental health services, and other social needs can meet with community agencies that can provide assistance. The Library collaborates with Malden’s Office of Housing Stability, Mystic Elder Services, the Malden's Health and Human Services Coordinator, the Language Access Coordinator, Addiction Recovery Resource Specialists, among other agencies. In addition, Library provides a drop-in tech time, an ESL conversation class, and at 50+ Job Seekers Networking Group.

The Library also plays a role in reducing social isolation by creating opportunities and spaces where people can share experiences with neighbors they wouldn’t otherwise meet – creating a social connectedness. Parents meeting parents at morning story time, adults having fun at board game nights, book discussion groups, movie nights, and new programs such as “yarn and yap” and “miniature paint nights” all help to bring Malden together.

My continued thanks to the entire Malden Public Library staff, the Board of Trustees, the Mayor, City Council, our generous donors and volunteers, and to the wonderful community of Malden for their continued support.

Respectfully submitted,
Dora St. Martin
Director

FCC Chairwoman Jessica Rosenworcel and Senator Markey Visit

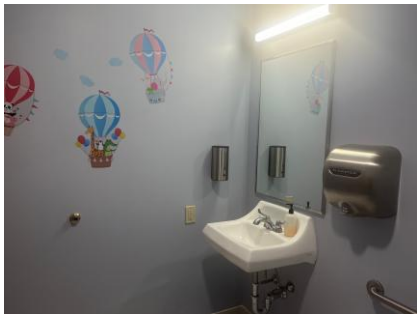
On the morning of Wednesday, July 17, U.S. Senator Ed Markey, State Senator Jason Lewis, Mayor Gary Christenson, Federal Communications Commission (FCC) Chairwoman Jessica Rosenworcel and representatives from the Boston, Cambridge and Malden Public Libraries met at the Malden Public Library to discuss the benefits of loaning Wi-Fi hotspots from schools and public libraries.

The discussion was prompted by a July vote being held by the FCC to determine whether to expand the E-Rate Program to provide funding for schools and public libraries to loan mobile Wi-Fi hotspots to students and patrons. Library staff from Boston, Cambridge, and Malden spoke on the benefits of Wi-Fi hotspot lending to patrons and members of the community, and how such lending programs can help bridge digital inequity and provide more opportunities for those who might struggle to afford internet access at home.

The FCC vote, which was held in Washington, D.C., the next day on July 18, passed the measure to allow E-Rate funding to be used to purchase and loan mobile Wi-Fi hotspots.

The original E-Rate Program was authored by Senator Markey in 1996 to help provide internet access to schools and libraries across the country. Senator Markey – who was born in Malden, attended Malden Catholic High School and frequented the Malden Public Library growing up – chose the library as the venue for this discussion.

Building and Grounds



As we look forward to next year – the 140th Anniversary of the Converse Memorial Builidng – many needed building upgrades continue to be completed.

This year, with support of the Adelaide Breed Bayrd Foundation, we renovated the second floor children's restroom – including all new flooring, fixtures and lighting. We also replaced the 4 air conditioners in the 1885 building that were installed in 1987. A new project to add dehumidification to the closed stacks will begin in 2026.

The new library van was finally delivered after a 6 month delay. The Ford T150 van comes equipped with a motorized lift for book carts and wifi. It will be used to deliver books for our senior homebound service and bringing library services to parks, schools and community events. Using the van, staff are able to sign up residents for library cards at community events, such as the Malden Green Fair, the Malden Pride Festival and the Fairyhouse Festival at Pine Banks.

A new Biblioteca 3000 self-checkout station has been installed at the library, giving patrons the option to check out their own materials quickly and conveniently. The self-checkout station is designed to give library users more flexibility when they prefer to do things themselves; or when the library staff is busy helping others.

Converse Memorial Building & Art Galleries

In May, the Library was proud to host the 5th Congressional Distict Art Show sponsored by Congresswoman Kaherine Clark. MHS freshman Hazel Queen was the 1st place winner for her acrylic work "The Future is in Her Hand." Hazel's work highlights how in the Democratic Republic of Congo 25.4 million people are food insecure. The painting will be displayed in the Capital in Washington, DC.

Joel and Deborah Cooper Exhibition

According to the National Gardener Magazine, Joel and Deborah Cooper worked together delightfully. It took Joel about 100 hours to create a print. Once completed, he would place it on an easel in the middle of everything, hoping that Deborah would find that little thread to inspire the poem that might express the feelings that print brought out in her, much like a fairy tale. Sadly, Joel passed away in 2021. The Cooper family donated 85 of Joel's prints to the Library's Art Collection. The exhibit showcased 30 prints and poems created by the Coopers over the past 40 years. The exhibition was made possible by the generous contributions of John Giso, Martin Cooper, Kim Taylor and the Trustees of the Malden Public Library. The Cooper Exhibit was featured in The National Gardener Magazine reaching over 135,000 subscribers.

Frank & Constance Stella

The theme for this year's Friends Wine Tasting was a tribute to Malden artist Frank Stella, who passed away in May 2024 and his fellow artist and mother Constance Stella.The Gala theme encouragd guests to dress in psychedelic '60s and '70s garb to remember Stella's modernistic, abstract expressionism.

Frank Stella's relationship with the Library goes back to his childhood when his mother would bring him to the Library for story time. In 1959, when he was building his art career in NYC, Frank's father asked if his son could display his works in the art galleies. Thus, Frank Stella's first solo first solo exhibition was held in the Library. This was the same year Frank's work was shown at the Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) in famed 1959 exhibition "16 Americans," launching his career.

The Library was excited to have serveral of Frank Stella's children and grandchildren visit the new exhibition.

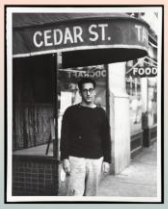
The Summer of 1959 - Frank Stella Exhibit

Frank Philip Stella (1936-2024) was born on May 12, 1936, in Malden, to Frank and Constance (Santonelli) Stella. His mother had gone to art school and later took up landscape painting. His father was a gynecologist and also a part-time house painter.

Frank Stella came to the Malden Public Library with his mom to attend story time. Stella remembers doing typical holiday art projects with his mother for Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter – painting turkeys, Santa Claus and rabbits on his bedroom window. When he moved to New York, Stella was still painting houses to pay rent, and continued to use the house painter's brush and enamel when making his "Black Paintings" (1958-60).

In 1959, Stella created his "Black Paintings," series, in which bands of black paint are separated by thin, precise stripes of bare canvas. At a time when contemporary painting was all about wild gestures, thick paint and formal abandon, these pieces created a sensation. Over the following decades Stella would go on to experiment with color, shape, breaking up the picture plane, until finally his works fly right off the wall into freeform abstract sculptures. The "Black Paintings" are great not only because they exemplify minimalism; they also serve as the perfect starting point.

Examples of paintings by Malden's Frank Stella were exhibited during a week in the summer of 1959 after being shown at Oberlin College, which selected him as one of three outstanding young American painters. These were five large canvasses (one measuring 7 x 11 feet) all done in a "stripe" technique that mystified most of the 279 viewers. That same year, Stella's work was included in the exhibition "Sixteen Americans" at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.



Portrait of Frank Stella by Hollis Frampton, 1958

Constance Aida (Santonelli) Stella (1914-2006)

The work of Constance Stella represents a lifetime of creative interests. Beginning her professional training at the Alan Dale Studio in Boston, Constance Stella. Her talent merited the attention of the Designer's School of Art, which awarded her a scholarship to study fashion design. Instead, she chose to study drafting with Edith Taub at Boston University. And then turning to a serious pursuit of impressionist painting, she became a student of Eugenie Jobin.

Married to Dr. Frank Stella, she maintained a continuing interest in painting while raising a family of three children, who were encouraged to develop their artistic temperaments.

Once her family was grown, Constance Stella was able to again devote herself to art. She studied painting with Helen Van Wyk, of Rockport, and Sister Vincent de Paul of Notre Dame, of Ipswich. Then pursuing a degree at Emmanuel College, with a major in art. Wishing to further her interest in marine painting, she worked with Robert Betham, pursued landscape painting with John Teralak and studied with noted water-colorist Betty Lou Schlemm.

Both the themes and techniques of Constance Stella's painting reflect the broad, diverse, and ever-expanding experience of her life; her extensive travels in Europe, her observations of nature, and her active involvement in the contemporary art scene. She was equally at home painting in the realistic or abstract school. She was also a past member of the Cape Ann Watercolor Painters and The North Shore Art Association, and exhibited extensively in New England.

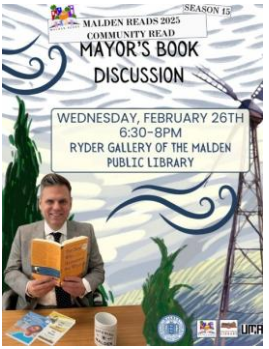
Malden Reads

The 2025 book selection for Malden Reads was The Boy Who Harnessed the Wind by William Kamkwamba. This book tells the story of a young boy in Malawi who brought electricity and water to his village by building a windmill that he had learned about in a school textbook.

The kickoff program was held at the newly-opened Bread of Life "all-in-one" facility at 54 Eastern Avenue. Malden Reads invited community organizations to join the opening with informational tables; and food and music from the local Boston Malawi community.

Malden Reads invites the community to read the same book and participate in events related to the book's themes. The goal is to encourage reading, promote the library and build community. This year's programs included book discussions, story time, movie nights, school-based Writers Den project, and a STEM craft program for teens.



Assistant Director Caron Guigli's Retirement

On Feb 20 the Library staff sadly held a retirement luncheon for Caron Guigli, our Assistant Director. Caron came to the Library in October 2013 and retired on Febuary 28, 2025. Caron was the Library liaison with the Friends of the Library and Malden Reads for over 10 years - from wine tasting and booksales to Malden Reads kick offs and the Mayor's Book Discussion - she has been there.

Caron was the Library's chief Information Technology person - keeping the Library up to date, including overseeing the recent Maccario Room technology upgrade. Caron worked tirelessly to continue to provide residents with services during the Covid pandemic. She personally answered remote questions, signed up every resident needing an e-card to use Library online resources, and worked to provide a safe and secure opening for staff and library users. There was no playbook for dealing with the crisis and issues that changed day to day and often required MacGyver-like solutions. Caron's ability to find solutions to problems both in technology and for the staff will be greatly missed.

Report of the Assistant Director

This is my first report as the Assistant Director and the 147th submitted to the Board of Trustees.

In this report I'll outline my major areas of responsibility for the year 2025. I began the position in March after Caron Guigli retired. Caron was a great role model and mentor and eased my transition into this new role. Mostly, I oversee the everyday scheduling and programming and help coordinate the summer reading program. Yet there are many other things as well that keep me busy.

Technology

There were major improvements to the technology at the Malden Public Library in the past fiscal year. After upgrading the staff computers last year from a Windows 10 environment to Windows 11, it was time to do the same for the computers available to the public at the library.

Public computers in the Malden Library employ two software packages that are not used anywhere else in the Library—a program called Librarica (Cassie) that controls our time management and printing capabilities, and Faronics (Deep Freeze) that "freezes" and wipes clean the hard drive on the public computers after each use. With the new HDMI large screen monitors and the updated Windows hard drives, the patrons at the library have a much improved online experience.

Programming

The library strengthened its community outreach while collaborating with the Mystic Valley Elder Services offering a monthly drop in for seniors. The Malden Office of Housing and the Malden Strategic Planning and Community Development also offered monthly drop in hours. We recently added a Language Access hour with Elena Martinez to help residents better understand City resources.

The Library introduced new local history programs including Malden Monopoly, Mind Your Business (a local history game), Malden Industry Walking Tours in addition to the regularly scheduled local history time in the Converse Building. Author events, monthly book groups for all ages, and game night programs continued. We also hosted our first multigenerational program on artificial intelligence and hope to have more.

The Friends of the Malden Public Library
The Annual Wine Tasting event was held on May 9, 2025 with the theme honoring the late Malden artist Frank Stella. A wide selection of wines and non-alcoholic beverages were provided by Kappy's Fine Wine and Spirits of Malden. Hors d'oeuvres from Malden restaurants and music provided by the Itz Trio were enjoyed by 150 attendees.

They had several "pop-up" events this year and continued with the Spring and Fall Book Sales. They had two large membership drives with private members only nights on the Friday evening before the larger sales. The pop events at various city functions like the Lunar New Year Celebration, Juneteenth, Malden Pride, Hispanic Heritage Celebration, Back to School Night with curated books for each event.

Lastly, I just want to share how incredibly grateful I am to have such a dedicated and supportive team. Dora has put together an incredibly capable staff who do their best to meet the needs of the community compassionately, creatively and with enthusiasm. People feel welcome here and that says a lot about our team. Thank you.

Respectfully submitted,

Marita Coombs

Adult Services

The Library staff offered a rich variety of adult programs this past year, covering a range of topics and interests. Adults enjoyed Origami with Carol Woodruff, Pastel Workshop with Greg Maichack, a Sketchbook Workshop with local artist Lisa Sears, and Let's Talk about A Poem with poet laureate Lloyd Schwartz; and the American Repertory Theater offered two performances: Gatsby and Odyssey Puppetry Theater.

The Library of Things Collection continues to expand. This year with support of the Malden Lions Club and the Malden Disablity Commision, the collection now includes a braille typewriter. This means that patrons who are braille readers can now come to the library and request to use the braille machine to take notes while reading or doing their research in the library.

Lectures this year included:

- Mystic River for All! With the Mystic Valley Watershed Association
- Becoming Janet: A Talk with Author Janet Applefield on her experiences as a child hidden during the Holocaust and the importance of standing up to bigotry and hate.
- Pride Screening: Gen Silent – movie follows the lives of 6 seniors in and around Boston who are trying to navigate aging
- AI or Not – Artificial Intelligence in Our Daily Lives
- Hudson Valley Reckoning by author Debra Bruno, with Eleanor C. Mire provided a compelling discussion on family history, slavery in the north-Atlantic, and the challenges of racial reconciliation.
- Architecture Lecture with Jay Wickersham, co-author of Henry Hobson Richardson: Drawings from the Collection of Houghton Library, Harvard University.

ESL Conversation Classes and More

The theme for this year's Welcoming Week is "We're All In!" Throughout Welcoming Week Library staff provided information about local community organizations, including resources for English classes, immigration & citizenship information, food & housing information, job information, language learning, and more.

The Library's ESL/ELL class for adults meets every Wednesday. During the summer the class read the book "Behind The Mountains" by Edwidge Danticat, about a young girl from Haiti. The ESL class was so excited when the author agreed to attend the class remotely and answer student's questions.

Local History

Residents laced up their Chuck Taylors, grabbed a bottle of water, and were ready to learn about the cool and interesting history of our city. Local History Librarian Phillip Wright led residents on a tour of the industrial history sites within walking distance of the library.

Other events included a Malden Trivia Night with a Jeopardy feel. Prizes were awarded as was local bragging rights to all those who could answer the most who, what, when, and wheres of Malden history.

In April, the LIbray hosted a lecture "The Life, Music, and Mystery of Connie Converse" with author Howard Fishman. Fishman's book, To Anyone Who Ever Asks: The Life, Music, and Mystery of Connie Converse, tells the tale of Connie Converse who disappeared in 1974. Connie Converse was a 20th century singer-songwriter and activist, considered by some to be a precursor to Bob Dylan.

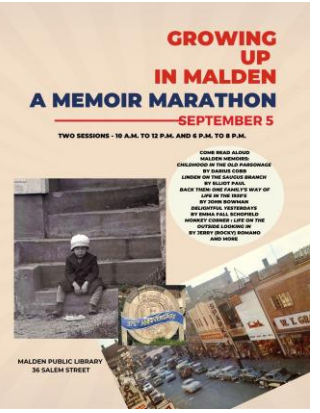
Malden's 375th Anniversary

Malden is one of the most ancient cities in Massachusetts, New England and the USA. It was incorporated as a town on May 2, 1649.

The Library staff played a key role in the City's 375th Anniversary Celebration. This year's programs included a historic trolley tour, a lecture by Councilor Winslow on his trip to Maldon England; and also "Growing Up in Malden," a Malden memoir writers read-aloud marathon.



Works read aloud included: "Childhood in the Old Parsonage" by Darius Cobb, Linden on the Saugus Branch by Elliot Paul, Back Then: One Family's Way of Life in the 1930's and the 1940's by John Bowman, Delightful Yesterdays by Emma Fall Schofield, and Monkey Corner: Life on the Outside Looking In by Jerry (Rocky) Romano.

One unique opportunity as part of the 375th was a guided trolley tour of Malden's historic sites. The guided trolley tour, led by expert storytellers Neal Anderson and Mark Linehan, brought the city's fascinating past to life. The narration for the tour was written by Library Director Dora St. Martin.

Childrens Services

The Children's Department serves children from birth through fifth grade, along with their parents, caregivers and teachers. The Library's Early Literacy Programs included a Preschool Story time, Song & Rhyme Time, Craft Time with Panda, and two community-led story times in Chinese and Arabic.

The Book Squad Book Discussion group was offered for children in grades 4 and 5.

Special programs this year included: Bilingual Story time / Songs of the Chirimia, the Zoo Show (with an ALPACA in the Library), Bugman Petting Zoo, All About River Otters, Pumpernickel Puppets, Bilingual Story time / Legend of the Inca Empire, and Winter Sing-a-long with Steve Blunt.

The Library also offered several family movie nights at the Park at Rivers Edge sponsored by Preotle, Lane & Associates.

Young Adult / Teen Services

The Young Adult Room is located on the first floor of the main building. It's where you can find seating reserved for teens in the 6th through the 12th grade . . . a space where teens can use computers, hang out with friends, as well as just sit and relax. Here you can find Young Adult books, magazines, graphic novels and manga to read and enjoy.

Other special programs this year included ocean slime making, Pokemon model crafting, needle felt crafting, spooky candle making, miniature painting, make your own lip balm, tie-dye workshop; plus gaming and movie afternoons. This year there was also a new Roleplaying Group that met weekly in the Program Room.

As part of Malden Reads, teens learned to create their own wind power model that provided real electricity. This is a STEM-based craft helped student understand the struggle of William Kamkwamba to bring electricity to his small village, as told in his memoir, The Boy Who Harnessed the Wind.

Summer Reading for All Ages

The Malden Public Library offered summer Reading Programs for all ages—with fun challenges, events, and prizes. Participants in the program met the community goal of reading 10,000 hours during the eight-week program. The final total was 633,752 minutes.

The theme for Massachusett Libraries 2025 summer reading program is Level Up at Your Library. Play is one of the ways we learn to relate to others, to think in new ways, and to foster friendships, new and old. Level Up at Your Library is an all ages summer reading program based around puzzles and games. In partnership with iREAD Summer Reading and Beanstack Tracker app, the Library offered reading challenges and incentives with support from our community partners.

Families enjoyed the summer reading prizes: Week 1: Mar Chica Pizza, Week 2: Dairy Delight, Week 3: HoneyHoney Desssert Cafe, Week 4: Bikeeny, Week 5: Bam Bam Chicken, Week 6: Cornucopia, Week 7: The Scoop Ice Cream. For week 8, we gave out patches and buttons.

Our Summer Reading Program, our events and our prizes wouldn't be possible without this year's community sponsors: Preotle Lane & Assoc., Friends of the Malden Public Library, Malden Chamber of Commerce, Boda Borg, Malden Cultural Council, The Crew, Mar Chica Pizzeria, Paddle Boston, Dairy Delight, Skybound Malden, Honey Honey Dessert Cafe, Town Line Luxury Lanes, Bikeeny Caffe, Pearl Street Station, Bam Bam Chicken, Premiere Dance, Cornucopia Foods, Inc., Mystic Valley Elder Services, The Scoop Ice Cream, BKJ Productions and the Mayor's Summer Employment Youth Program (MYSEP). We are so fortunate to have such a wonderful, supportive community here in Malden.

This summer programs incuded Bubbles on the Lawn, Kindness Rock Painting, Tie-Dying Crafts, live animal shows and story time at the Annual Fairyhouse Festival at Pine Banks.
